

Community Center Construction Update Fremont, WI November-January 2026

Construction continues for the new community center and library for Fremont! The construction crews have been very busy despite rain in December and bitter cold in January. If you have driven by recently, you will have noticed significant progress on the building exterior and roof.

The glulam was delivered and installed between November and December. After the completion of glulam, the structural roof panels were installed. Currently, electrical, plumbing and wall insulation work is ongoing within the building. Current exterior work includes roof panels and sheathing.

As we look forward to spring, exterior concrete and wall framing will commence with the warmer spring weather. Construction for our new community center and library remains on schedule, and we continue to look forward to seeing its progress.

Interior work is ongoing, here you can see a great shot of the interior walls.

An inside view of the ceiling.

Continued interior work.

Construction crews are working hard despite winter weather, photo taken January 2026

Updated building renderings as of January 2026

McMAHON
ENGINEERS ARCHITECTS